Executive Order 14150: Unleashing American Drone Dominance

Date: June 6, 2025

On June 6, 2025, President Trump signed Executive Order 14150, titled "Restoring American Airspace Sovereignty," to address the escalating threats posed by unmanned aircraft systems (UAS), commonly known as drones. The order aims to enhance national security by implementing stricter controls and regulations over UAS operations within U.S. airspace.

Key Provisions:

1. Establishment of the Federal Task Force to Restore American Airspace Sovereignty:

- Chaired by the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, this task force comprises representatives from relevant executive departments and agencies.
- Its mandate includes reviewing operational, technical, and regulatory frameworks and proposing solutions to counter UAS threats.

2. Airspace Regulations to Protect the Public:

- The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is directed to expedite the rulemaking process to restrict drone flights over critical infrastructure and other sensitive facilities.
- The FAA must also make Notices to Airmen (NOTAMs) and Temporary Flight Restrictions (TFRs) freely available online to aid in drone geofencing and navigation.

3. Enhanced Enforcement Measures:

- The Attorney General and FAA Administrator are instructed to increase enforcement of laws against drone operators who endanger public safety or violate airspace restrictions.
- Federal agencies are authorized to utilize existing authorities to detect, track, and identify drones and their signals.
- State, local, tribal, and territorial law enforcement agencies are enabled to access grant programs for similar equipment.

Conclusion: This executive order reflects a comprehensive approach to securing U.S. airspace against the misuse of drone technology by criminal and hostile entities, ensuring the safety of the public and the integrity of national infrastructure.
